DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

> Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1 – 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The statute effectively sets forth that a process or machine may be claimed in the alternative. In the instant case. All of base claims 1, 9 and 15 claim a .....'method and system' and the dependent claims revert between structure and method step recitations, and therefore there is no confinement to a statutory class of invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

> The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 – 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Since the claims all set forth that a method and system are both being claimed in each claim, the scope of the claims becomes unclear.

Additionally whereas the preambles set forth evaluation during 'tasks' (plural) the body of the base claims recites that it is stages of a given task that are evaluatied, and claims 6 – 7 refer to task in the singular.

Additionally claim 9 lacks antecedence for 'the male subject' since gender is not specified in the first use of the term 'subject'.

Additionally with respect to claims 2 – 5, 10 – 12 and 15 – 16 the term 'device ' is used whereas the antecedent terminology refers to the 'system' which is more comprehensive a term than the devices which may comprise it.

Dependent claims variously inherit the defects.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1 – 20 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims variously of U.S. Patent No. 6773400 in view of Davidson et al (US6656122). Since the former claims methods of facial recognition task evaluation using inter alia mean cerebral artery flow values and latency/peak variations and it was well-known to derive or interrelate Doppler mean flow velocity and Doppler spectrum analysis in order to characterize cerebral blood flow as per Davidson et al, it would have been obvious to include spectral analysis within a Doppler bloodflow characterization method in order to characterize the flow phenomenon over its spectral constituents.
